This book is about a woman called Gone who is a lonely woman working in Wall Street. Later she becomes a happier, more fulfilled woman with a job which she loves. The job is working for a famous novelist Robert MC. But she just works on Friday. She will not go out besides Friday. It is because she thinks Friday is a wonderful day, but the other days are not. Why does she say Friday is a wonderful day, while the others are not? It is because when she was a student, from Monday to Friday she had to go to school. Saturday and Sunday were holidays. Although Saturday and Sunday were holidays, they would be gone quickly. But on Friday, she was happy because she still had two days of holidays. That's why she is happy only on Friday. So she just goes out on Friday. Her boss novelist Robert MC supervises the whole department. He knows this girl is special. So he allows her to work in the office only on Friday, but she can work at home for the rest of the week. Gone is grateful to her boss. Later they begin to fall in love.

Feedback :

It is a story of love and mistakes.

I think the reason why novelist Robert MC likes Gone is that Gone is a good listener. She focuses her entire attention on people when people are talking to her, so they will feel themselves incredibly important. Also, she is a considerate, sociable, thoughtful and industrious woman.
