

Call No. : F LEE

Dog lost

Author : Ingrid Lee

A dog is walking on the street. What is it like? She has soft fur that you will like to touch all the time. A cold, damp poke of a nose smells you! Her tail thumps and is playing the music to welcome you! Oh! How lovely the puppy is! Although she is very lovely, she has have a bad, sad experience.

She has a good master. His name is Mack. One day, he met her in a street too. At a moment, Mack felt she was his dog and no one could take it away! Also, she felt that way too. So, Mack gave her a name. It is called Cash. Mack brought Cash home.

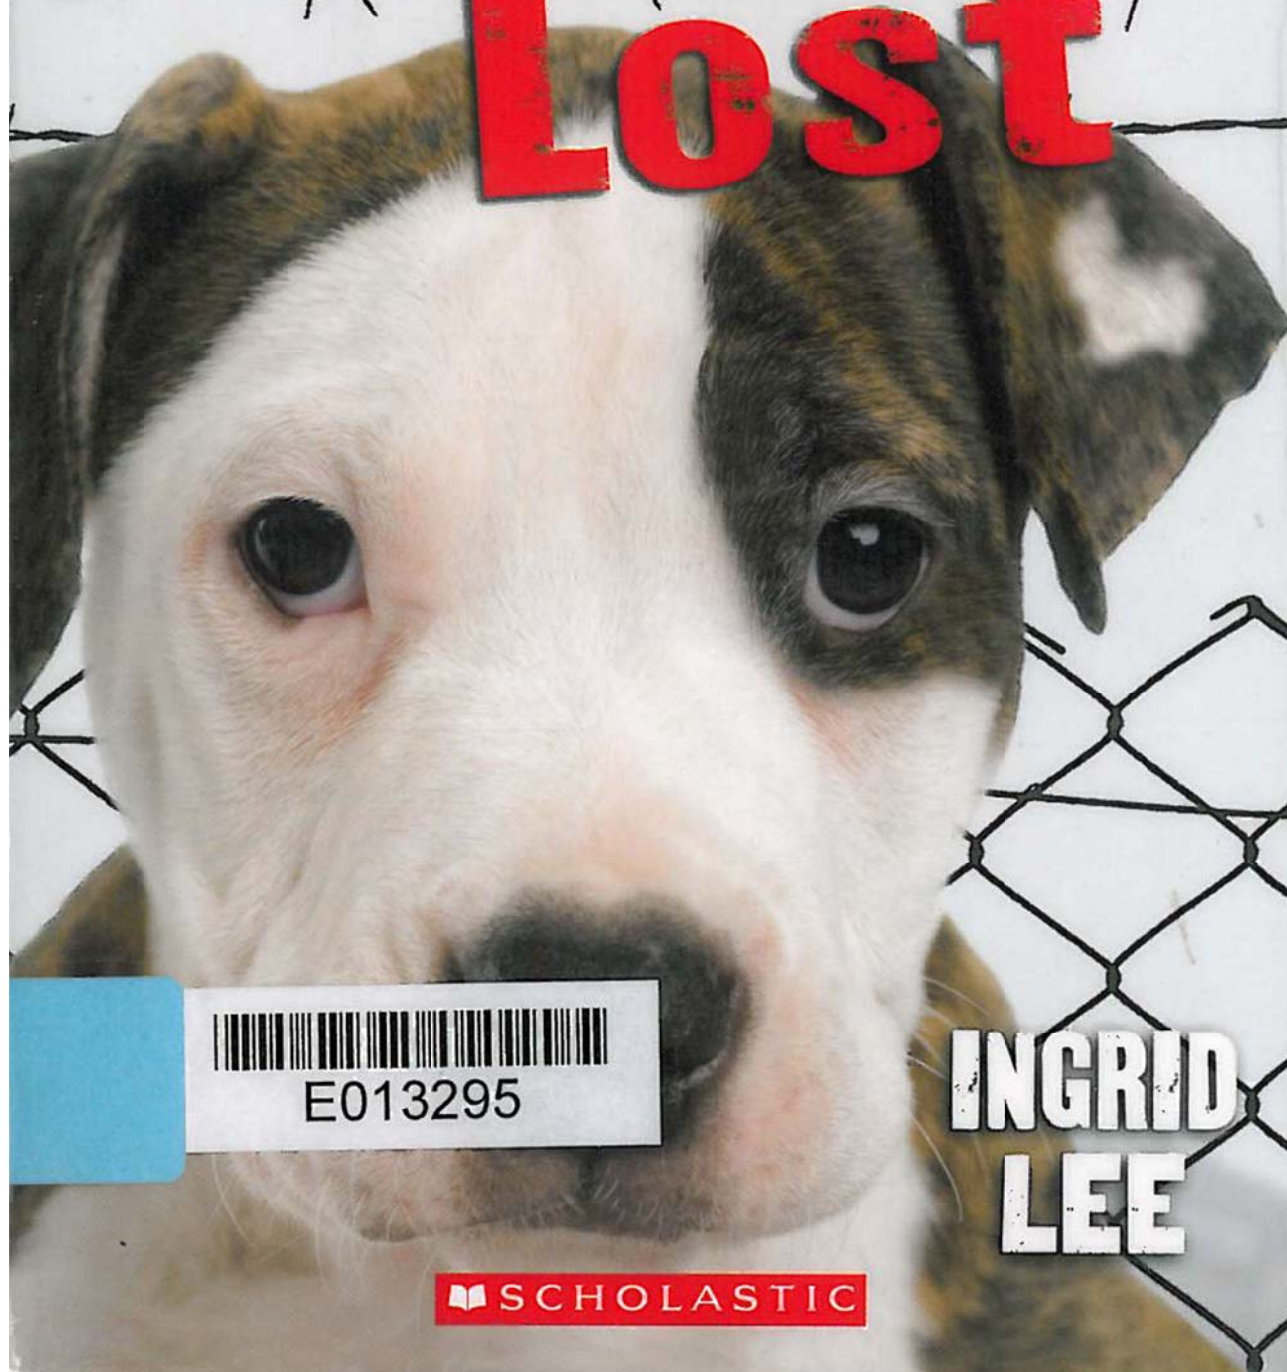

But Mack and Cash's nightmare came; Mack's dad was mean. When he smelled the dog, he felt sick. Some time afterwards, his dad became mad. Ignoring Mack's cries and shout, he dumped Cash in the middle of nowhere. Cash was hungry, lost, bored and thirsty. Our cute young pup must face these difficulties. Will she ever find her master, Mack again?

I like this book very much because it tells the readers: if you want to dump your dog, no matter for what reason; maybe it isn't cute anymore or you have to move to another place where a dog can't be kept or you are busy; you should think of the following questions: Who can give the dog food? Where can it go? If you put yourselves into the dog's shoes, you will find that your dog will be very sad and lonely. So, please don't dump your dog. And take good care of it!

1A Chan Shuk Wa

"A breathless page-turner . . . brutally honest . . .
wonderfully heart-rousing." – Ann M. Martin

Dog Lost

E013295

INGRID
LEE

 SCHOLASTIC